2010 Edmund S. Muskie Graduate Fellowship Program

A PROGRAM OF THE BUREAU OF EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS OF THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Thank you for your interest in the Edmund S. Muskie Graduate Fellowship Program.

For more than half a century, the United States has supported international educational and cultural exchange programs as an investment in global understanding and peace. Such exchange programs have a long track record of bringing future leaders from around the world to the United States.

Established by the U.S. Congress in 1992 to support democracy and economic development in Eurasia, the Muskie Program provides opportunities for outstanding professionals to study advanced degrees in the United States. Over the past seventeen years, more than 4,000 men and women have studied in 11 academic fields at over 200 U.S. universities. At the end of their academic component upon return home, fellows are also eligible to take part in alumni activities that further promote the goals of the Muskie Program.

The Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State is responsible for the management and oversight of the Muskie Program. Underlying the role of exchanges in U.S. foreign policy is the belief that mutual understanding is of vital importance in an increasingly interdependent world and that person-to-person exchange and training is the most effective way to promote mutual understanding. International exchanges enhance the effectiveness of the United States in dealing with other nations, and the exchange of persons and ideas is essential to the promotion of democracy, economic prosperity, international cooperation, peace and security around the world.
